REPUBLICANS MUST CLEAN HOUSE OR PEOPLE WILL

HIRAM JOHNSON SAYS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The Republican party must clean house or the people will do it for them, Senator Hiram W. Johnson, candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency, declared in a statement issued today.

The Senator characterized as "ridiculous and absurd" recent assertions by Coolidge managers that the President already is virtually assured of more than enough convenient votes to nominate.

"They follow the regular course of a Bourbon campaign—to claim all while putting every obstacle in the way of any expression or fair contest," continued. "If there were any such feeling of security or any such certainty of success, it would not be necessary to send delegates in the South or deny primaries in the North, like in Minnesota."

"These Bourbon Republicans who control the Republican machinery have a rude awakening before them, and they may just as well make up their minds now, as next June, that the Republican party must clean house, and if the Republicans themselves do not clean their house, and clean it thoroughly, the people will do it for them."

ever, should be construed as meddling in any way to limit or weaken the investigation now in progress. Let the investigation proceed without personal or partisan fear or favor until all the facts are disclosed. It is not enough to know who are the immediate persons concerned; let the probe go deeper until the "international" banking houses who conceived and financed the deal are exposed, for in the last analysis they are the sources of the corruption in which other men are caught. If the investigation is pushed beyond surface facts, more than our rights in the naval reserves will be recovered; we may also gain a knowledge of what inspires weakness in public office.

"The dangerous element in this matter is not alone the greed and weakness of individuals, but their readiness to weaken the country's defense by giving the navy fuel to private exploitation. The committee might also do well to look into the possibility of a connection between oil interests and our attitude toward the Mexican situation."

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Director of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Co. today voted to withdraw the recent offer to stockholders to subscribe to the capital stock of the Pan-American Petroleum Co., which was recently organized to develop the California naval oil leases.

E. L. Doherty yesterday said the company, at which was said plans were laid for dissolving the Western subsidiary.

It can only be guessed what Ora Thoele and Angie Saali rebelled against. One knows what they face now. For him a cell, instead of open fields this spring. For him the "jute mill" instead of haying time.

And Angie? There is the well in Peter Saali's barnyard to remind her. If she can appreciate symbolism, it will be symbolic. Ugly and commonplace monument to the rebellion that stirred Angie's soul. Land mark for neighborhood talk that will live as long as she lives.

But perhaps Angie is not one to deal in symbolism. Perhaps, if the coupes prison, she will be too occupied in drawing water for the wash to reflect that this well was to have been her husband's tomb.

whom he described, and who the police say was evidently Miles, hailed his cab at Delmar and Clara and went east. At the saloon on Taylor he got out, and Emmott followed him into the place. The man then asked the bartender for $2, and received two $1 bills, one of which he gave to Emmott, telling him to keep the change, though the taxi bill was but 60 cents.

Home Searched for Miles. Detective Sergeant Collard and Archey told of visiting the house at 4171 Enright and making a search for Miles. Archey said he found letters addressed to Miles and clothing with Miles' initials. The woman in charge of the house would give him no information about the man, and told the police that she knew nothing of any visit by Miles. At the house on Enright avenue where the police looked for Miles, the elderly woman in charge refused to know nothing about Miles.

Rudolph Schaefer, who was partner with O'Neal in the hotel bar, was questioned in great detail by Chief of Detectives Hoiland and members of the homicide squad yesterday afternoon. Both at the chief's office and at the scene of the killing.

Schaefer told Detective Sergt. Linder, soon after the killing, that he was the only person, besides Miles and O'Neal, in the bar at the time of the shooting. In his testimony at the coroner's inquest Wednesday and yesterday, he said two men, whom he did not know, were also in the place at the time, and ran out after the shooting. He said that he feared for his life because of his connection with the case, but insisted that no definite

HOW $8,000,000 DEAL WAS SWUNG IN GRANBY STOCK

G. Herbert Walker, Broker, Negotiated Sale of Company at Peak of War Prices in 1916.

When G. Herbert Walker, St. Louis investment broker, sold the Granby Mining and Smelting Co. in 1916 to the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Co. for $8,000,000, the latter company believed it had made a shrewd purchase.

The European war was on. Spotter prices were very high and going higher. Enormous profits were being made in this metal for war munitions. There was no prospect of an early end of the war nor of any interference with spotter prices.

But America entered the war a year later and fixed a nominal price, beyond which spotter should not sell. Granby profits fell like a rocket. Added to this was the discovery of new zinc mines in Oklahoma that were less costly to operate. The Granby mines in the Joplin district were abandoned altogether, and were Granby stock offered for sale today it would not bring half the price Walker obtained for it in 1916.

Enormous Profits. Thus did Walker swing one of the biggest deals of his career in a hovering market of prosperity and earned for his company commissions and profits exceeding $500,000, to say nothing of enormous profits for Granby stockholders.

The foregoing facts were disclosed in depositions by Walker and Harry S. Kimball, formerly president of the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Co., taken in New York in the suit by Mrs. Ida Mary Boyd of 19 Russell avenue, against the St. Louis Union Trust Co., which is set for trial here Monday before Circuit Judge Hartmann.

Mrs. Boyd, daughter of Mary Jane Blake, inherited the latter's estate of more than $1,000,000, which was placed in trust with the St. Louis Union Trust Co., and in which were 1735 shares of Granby stock. This was sold by Mrs. Boyd on option to Walker for $250 a share. Other stockholders received a 375 a share in the same deal with Walker, and Mrs. Boyd is seeking to recover $75 a share, the same price paid by the trust company on the ground that the trust company had no right to option the stock to Walker.

In the option to Walker there were also 25 shares of Granby stock in another estate, for Mrs. Bertha Drake Smoot, for which the trust company received $275 a share at the time it let the Blake stock go at $300 a share.

Explaining the deposit of the trust company, John P. Shepley, president of the trust company, said that while it was his duty to do the best he could for both the Blake and Smoot estates, Mrs. Boyd was a friend of the family. He added that the Board of Directors of the trust company had authorized him to sign the Blake option, but not for Mrs. Smoot. Furthermore, he said, it would have been futile to ask Walker to release the trust company from the Blake option, as that was the block of stock upon which the entire deal hinged.

Walker, in his deposition, corroborated this. He said he and Shepley had been friends for years. "The question of what I thought of Shepley does not enter into this," Walker testified. "But I trust him tremendously. He had been a great personal friend of mine all my life, and I said to him, 'I am not going to cause you any embarrassment on it (meaning the Scott stock). We will release that 25 shares.'"

Walker testified there was no market for Granby stock in 1916 and that he had to sell the Granby Co. in order to find a buyer for any of the stock, particularly of the 1735 Blake shares.

Kimball testified that while the Granby company has returned $2,000,000 or $2,500,000 gross earnings since 1916, most of this was earned in 1916, and that development of the properties has since been practically abandoned. The profits, he said, "faded and proceeded at a very small return from the properties and I think possibly there was a slight loss made, maybe in one or two years."

He said he was sure the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Co. would not have paid as much as $200 a share for Granby stock in 1916 had it been known, as subsequently happened, that the company would fail to develop mining expectations and cease to make earnings in spelter.

The testimony of Kimball and Walker will be used by the St. Louis Union Trust Co. to show that it acted in good faith for the Blake estate; that it was indirectly instrumental through Walker in promoting the sale of the Granby properties, thus creating a market for the stock at a record price. It will seek to show that the Blake estate never would have received even $300 a share had it not been for the business acumen of Walker in finding a purchaser for the Granby Co. at war-time prices.

On the other hand, Mrs. Boyd is seeking to show that the trust company had no legal right to sell her stock at a lower price than was received by other stockholders.

$41,660 WON BY ST. LOUIS BRIDGE TEAM'S BACKERS

Racquet Club's Card Experts File Up 8332 Point Lead Over Players From Los Angeles.

St. Louis backers of the Racquet Club bridge team, which last night finished a three-day tournament with players representing the Los Angeles Athletic Club at stakes of $5 a point, won $41,660 on the lead of 8332 points amassed by the local experts.

The "big killing" was made in yesterday's play, when 8332 points were added to the Racquet Club score. It is understood that as much as $5000 was at stake on the turn of a single hand.

On a Percentage Basis. C. Drummond Jones and Bryant McCampbell, author of "McCampbell on Bridge," represented the Racquet Club, whose members and others underwrote certain percentages of probable losses in return for the same percentages of winnings. Out on the coast where club members did the same thing for the Los Angeles players, the settlement will be on the basis of losses.

There was little of the spectacular in the contest until yesterday afternoon and last night, when the cards and strategy were breaking for Jones and McCampbell. Smoking incessantly, the four card players sat at a small table in one of the club rooms while interested spectators stood around.

Jones and McCampbell started poorly in the first day's play and were 126 points behind. Wednesday they did better and were 2500 points ahead. Play on both days was conservative, the run of the cards deciding in most instances.

Not Enjoying Themselves. All the players have denied at one time or another that they were playing for high stakes. One said 10 cents a point, and another said a cup was at stake. All said it was for sport. Some reports were that the game was for $10 a point, but now that the match is ended it can be stated, on good authority, that $5 a point was wagered.

The Los Angeles players left last night for Chicago. Before the tournament there was talk of a return match at Los Angeles. The California enthusiasts said nothing about this at the close of play.

Through the sale of this stock Pan-American Petroleum planned to raise $10,000,000 to add to the proceeds from the sale of $12,000,000 in bonds to finance improvement of the California properties.

Scruggs, to commute to life imprisonment, the sentence of the other condemned man, Thomas Russell, an American-born Mexican, convicted of killing his sweetheart, an Indian girl.

P. A. McCarran, a former Justice of the Nevada Supreme Court, has made an impassioned plea on behalf of Russell, basing his argument largely on the record which the attorney contended, failed to bear out the State's case. The mother of the Indian girl had testified that she saw Russell kill the daughter, but Russell had insisted all along, even yesterday as he saw death a few hours away, that he was innocent and that it was the mother who was the slayer.

PRINCE OF WALES BREAKS HIS COLLAR BONE IN ACCIDENT

His Horse Falls in Jumping a Fence and Rider Is Thrown on His Shoulder.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The Prince of Wales broke his collar bone while exercising one of his hunters at Billington Manor, near Ascot, this morning.

The Prince was putting his account over a fence when the horse fell, throwing his rider heavily on his shoulder. The Prince got up and was remounting with difficulty when his equerry said: "I believe you've broken your collar bone."

"Yes, I have," Wales replied. The Prince was taken to the surgery at Leighton Buzzard, where he received treatment, and was driven back to Mentmore Mansion. He wore no collar when he emerged from the surgery and his shoulder was in bandages, but he was still smiling.

Wales had 18 hunters at Leighton Buzzard and was expecting to do much hunting with the Waddon Chase hounds. He had gone over to Mentmore Mansion with Lord Dalmeny, prior to the meet of the Waddon Chase this morning.

An express train which was stopped at Leighton Buzzard to bring several hunters over to Billington Manor, the property of Sir Richard Cooper, to give them a preliminary gallop. It was while putting his mount over a stiff fence that the accident happened.

An official statement says the collar bone was broken "about as slightly as is possible."

An express train which was stopped at Leighton Buzzard to bring several hunters over to Billington Manor, the property of Sir Richard Cooper, to give them a preliminary gallop. It was while putting his mount over a stiff fence that the accident happened.

A rehearsal of the execution yesterday afternoon snuffed out the lives of two cats in a time estimated at 15 seconds. A portion of the hydrocyanic acid was pumped in through the floor in the form of a fine spray. The cats died, apparently instantly and without pain.

It was charged that Ges Jon and another Chinese, now serving a life term, were sent from San Francisco by a tong to "execute" Tom Quon Kee, member of a rival tong.

ICE BRIDGE BREAKS; 20 PERSONS ON IT

Passage Across St. Lawrence Gives Way at Dusk; All Afloat Rescued After Many Hours.

By the Associated Press.

QUEBEC, Feb. 8.—All of the 20 persons whose lives were endangered yesterday by the breaking up of a mile long ice bridge across the St. Lawrence River escaped, the authorities said today.

Five persons, who floated for hours on the drifting ice, and who were believed to have been lost, made shore in safety.

The ice bridge, the first to be formed here in 25 years, was an unusual sight and hundreds of persons flocked to see it. The persons who were carried away when it broke were standing at about the middle of the stream. A veritable swarm of ferry boats and smaller craft put out in the search.

Measures were taken to form a chain of vessels across the river at a point further down stream where the banks are not so far apart.

Six Persons Reach Shore. Of the 20 persons on the bridge when the break occurred, seven were rescued on the Levis side, while three others were brought to the river banks in Quebec. Four others were known to have reached the shore after they had been thrown into the water.

Twenty minutes before the bridge broke more than 200 persons had been upon it, most of them sight-seers attracted to the unusual sight of a solid mass of ice across the river, which is a mile wide.

The story of a thrilling experience of six persons reached here. Three brothers named Couture, Henry Dion and two women, Miss Gagnon and Mrs. Fournier, all residents of Levis, were starting across the bridge, single file, when the crash came. All except Miss Gagnon were thrown into the water. They succeeded in pulling themselves to the ice as it drifted rapidly with the tide. They said they heard others shouting as they swept through the water.

Finally the ice struck the jam and with great difficulty they scrambled from one cake to another until they were safe on the river bank.

to rid humanity of fat!

the amazing discovery of localized-evaporation, surest, safest, pleasantest way to reduce

SINCE the vogue of extreme slimness came in some years ago, countless methods of weight reduction have been offered to the public. Patent foods, exercises, diets and baths flamboyantly advertised, have been held out to and eagerly gobbled up by credulous men and women. And while a few of these "cures" unquestionably have some merit, and some are harmlessly ineffective, a great many are not only worthless but positively dangerous.

Yet there is a natural, easy, sure way to reduce your weight. A woman discovered it.

Long a sufferer from excess weight herself, and having tried in vain countless different treatments, she decided to devote her ample means and leisure to the search for a satisfactory way to take off the unsightly pounds. And the now famous localized-evaporation method was the reward of this search.

What is Localized-Evaporation?

Localized-evaporation is founded on a well known scientific fact. So-called "fat" consists largely of water. If this water can be evaporated off and the fatty tissues broken down, the blood stream in its normal circulation will carry the waste matter away. The fat disappears. The problem was to find a way to cause this action by external application and to restrict it to just those parts of the body where slenderness was desired—in other words, to localize the process.

After long months of experiment and study on the part of scientists and specialists who were retained by the inventor, the problem was solved. Melto was produced; a fragrant cream, which, when used externally, acted only upon the spots to which it was applied.

And so wonderfully effective did this new-found secret prove to be in her own case (she took off fifty-five pounds in ten months) that the inventor gave the secret to her friends and finally to the general public.

Reduce Where You Want to Reduce

Melto has been on sale for only a little more than a year. Yet the truly astonishing results produced have won for it a tremendous popularity. So convenient, so pleasant to use, so wonderfully effective, Melto has brought to countless women beauty, health, happiness—a new joy in life—a new ability to do things. Chins beginning to droop, heavy waists, flabby arms, big ankles, have disappeared as though by magic. No enervating baths, no health-breaking diets, no unpalatable foods are necessary. With Melto you can reduce where you want to reduce without one bit of discomfort or inconvenience. And best of all, if results are not entirely satisfactory your money is cheerfully refunded.

Why Not Begin Now?

Melto cream, fragrant, smooth, absolutely harmless and soothing to the skin, may be obtained at almost any good druggist's or department store. The regular half-pound jar sells at three dollars. If you are fat, or if there are a few spots where you would like to reduce just a little, get a jar on your way home tonight. See how easy it is to have the lovely figure you've always wanted, by this natural, easy method. Send for free booklet. Melto Laboratories, 111 East 16th Street, New York City.

ADVISES WATER DRINKING FOR DISEASES OF KIDNEYS

Dr. Caulk of Washington U. Says Mississippi River Kind Is as Good as Medicinal Spring Waters.

"Drink more water" is the prescription of Dr. John R. Caulk of the Washington University Medical School, for avoiding diseases of the kidneys. In his lecture at the school auditorium last night on "Diseases of the Kidney and Bladder," Dr. Caulk declared that Mississippi River water would serve this purpose about as well as the product of so-called medicinal springs.

Dr. Caulk's lecture was the fifth in the university's course of free health lectures.

"Treatment of diseases of the kidneys and bladder without a thorough study is unjustifiable," he said. "Exploratory operation upon these organs, which were so frequent in former days before these various aids to diagnosis were in vogue, are obsolete. It is exceedingly rare that an operation is performed upon these organs which is not definitely planned and that the conditions at operation are not as predicted. This comforting state of affairs is not generally appreciated. Many people are still prone to believe that cures and quacks and to listen to themselves various patent or proprietary remedies, such as kidney pills, special waters and the like.

"Value of 'Medicinal' Waters. The rich afflicted indulge in periodic pilgrimages to that modern Mecca, the popular watering place and health resort, and, indeed, many become fixtures in the fallacious and misguided belief that the wand will wave and their ills will vanish. Most of the patent remedies are either sedatives, antiseptics or diuretics. The promiscuous use of these remedies is most heartily to be condemned, as it is often responsible for masking a more serious malady.

"As to the value of certain bottled spring waters, while many of them are palatable, I have been unable to convince myself (and I feel this is generally accepted by the profession) that there are curative properties in their action. Their chief virtue is that the individual, feeling there is some benefit to be derived, drinks more than customary. If the public in general would drink more copiously of water, there is no question that the kidneys and through them the general health, would be greatly improved.

"In this vicinity there is no excuse to patronize foreign waters when the 'Father of Waters' is at our door. The St. Louis water supply is absolutely pure and wholesome. The health resort has its merits; individuals are taken from their business worries and given recreation and relaxation. The dangerous feature is that people who have some acute or chronic condition, particularly infections or tumors, believing that the rest and change will build them up, allow the disease to progress. If the same individual had sought proper professional study and advice, many such conditions could have been cured, and then would be the time for rest and rebuilding.

"Tonics 'Deplorable Custom.' Tonics to stimulate an individual who is depleted is another deplorable custom. It is very much like whipping a tired horse. He goes a little better for a while, but ultimately breaks down. The relief of a diseased condition is usually all that is needed to restore one to perfect health. The only tonic of much value are nature's reliable remedies, the tonic trinity, fresh air, sunshine and food.

"It is very comforting to realize that the majority of the diseases of the kidney and bladder are absolutely curable, and so many more would be if diseases could be treated in their early stages. 'Many individuals eat abundantly and injudiciously and drink freely and unwisely. These two features are paramount in the production of one type of kidney disease. In the present day of freshly distilled alcohol and home-made beverages, one cannot be too careful in the selection of his friends. The kidneys would be maintained in a far more healthful state of preservation if they were not subjected to filtering these raw materials high in fusel oils and esters. I have seen several instances of acute congestion of the kidneys, with the passage of pus and blood, following free imbibing of fresh corn whiskey.' Dr. Caulk told of the symptoms and effects of certain kidney diseases of adults, and of weaknesses of this character in children.

AMERICAN STAFF IS OUSTED FROM ISLAND SUGAR CENTRAL

Governor-General Wood May Send Constabulary to Take Charge of Property.

By the Associated Press. MANILA, Feb. 5.—At the request of the Philippine National Bank, Governor-General Wood is considering sending constabulary soldiers to the Island of Negros to take charge of the Binalbagan Sugar Central, where Enrique Echauz and his associates recently ousted the American technical staff and forcibly assumed control of the property.

The sugar central had been placed in the hands of a receiver in the hope of adjusting its affairs, which had become tangled during the last three years. Echauz had an option for the purchase of the Sugar Central, but the bank which controls the property, claims the option had expired before Echauz assumed control.

DOMO, Ariz., Feb. 5.—Unconscious and in a critical condition, Perry Pasco, of Moline Ill., was found by railroad workers yesterday lying near the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks here at a spot where he had fallen from a westbound train on which he was a passenger. Railroad officials ordered a search along the tracks east of Yuma when Pasco's berth was found empty after the train arrived in that city. Pasco, clad in pajamas, was picked up near the tracks here and taken to Yuma, where physicians said he was suffering from a fractured skull. Trainmen said they believed Pasco arose from his berth some time last night, opened one of the doors of the Pullman and stepped off the moving train.

SUPERVISING BOND ISSUE NOW PROBLEM

Citizens Committee Decides to Ask Engineers for Advice on Best Method.

To supervise or not to supervise, that is the question agitating the Citizens' Supervisory Bond Issue Committee now. It was raised at yesterday's meeting by Harry Scullin, first vice chairman, who asked: "How far can we go in supervising projects under the bond issue?"

He explained that his subcommittee, handling street and sewer matters, recently encountered two projects which had reached the contract stage without detailed information reaching them. "We know nothing," he said, "about what's going on, except that we're approving the expenditure of money. This is not a criticism, but a request for information. How far can we go? No doubt city officials see that the work is done right, but we don't know anything about it."

President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service, who was present, suggested the committee might employ an experienced engineer to go over all plans for bond-issue projects, discuss them with city officials, and pass on them in a general way. Following this suggestion, the committee decided to invite heads of the Engineering Society and local chapter of the American Institute of Architects to appear before it next week to advise the committee how best to supervise.

As the committee is a year-old, the $37,372,500 bond issue having been approved Feb. 9, 1923, the second annual election of officers was held. All officers were re-elected without opposition. They are: Chairman, W. Frank Carter, who was chairman of the General Council on Civic Needs; first vice chairman, Scullin; second vice chairman, A. C. Carpenter; secretary, Mrs. John S. Payne; assistant secretary, John Hunt.

The committee approved a proposed ordinance submitted by Director of Public Utilities Hooke, appropriating $150,000 for part of the city-wide electric street lighting system out of an $3,000,000 bond issue item. Director Hooke said he would go into details of the plans with the proper subcommittee.

Epidemic Traced to Sleeping Sickness.

By the Associated Press.
SANTA ANA, Cal., Feb. 5.—Sewage, seeping into this city's water supply caused the epidemic of intestinal influenza, which last month affected nearly 3000 persons here, according to an announcement by officials of the State Board of Health. One municipal well was ordered abandoned, the draining of a 400,000-barrel reservoir was begun and preparations were made to treat all city water with germicides.

IT IS a Vandervoort policy always to sell every article at a price as low as that asked elsewhere for articles of equal quality or quantity.

KNOWLEDGE ORDERS OIL AND GASOLINE INQUIRY

Action Taken on Receipt of Complaints From Governors of South Dakota and Nebraska.

The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The Department of Justice will immediately set in motion its machinery to the bottom of charges by the Governor of South Dakota, and the "allied interests of the Standard Oil" have cornered the crude oil supply and enhanced gasoline prices.

The department action has been taken upon instructions from President Coolidge, to whom was directed yesterday a telegram from the South Dakota Governor setting forth his charges, and also a similar message from Gov. Bryan of Nebraska.

After the announcement that the President had ordered an inquiry into the gasoline and crude oil situation, former Representative Campbell of Kansas, speaking for the Standard Oil and Gas Co., submitted to the executive a statement giving reasons for fluctuation of crude oil and gasoline prices in the last year.

Complete suggested that the law of supply and demand alone was responsible.

The President's instructions, it was said at the Department of Justice, would mean a broadening of an inquiry that has been under way many months. United States attorneys long have had instructions, officials added, to aid local officials in efforts to run down monopolistic tendencies, and those efforts apply to oil and gasoline as well as to any other commodities.

Although there has been constant observation of conditions in the oil industry, department officials said there would now be an intensive study of the situation.

Gov. McMeister said in his telegram that South Dakota had "performed his duty in preventing excess profits in the distribution business" and called upon the Federal Government to check excess profits in the refining of gasoline.

The department is prepared to study both bases of the industry, however, and the Federal Trade Commission, which also was directed by the President to inquire into the situation, is considering its course in the matter. The commission has much data on the question involved.

Denial was made at the Department of Justice that Attorney-General Clegg, who is returning from Miami, Fla., where he has been with his invalid wife, was under back because of the charges concerning the gasoline and oil prices. His return, however, is generally accepted as meaning that the inquiry will be speeded up.

More Than 1200 Boys to Take Oath as Tenderfoot in Coliseum Ceremony.

The largest investiture of boys in the Boy Scout movement ever held in the world will take place at the Coliseum tonight in a program starting at 7:45 o'clock, when more than 1200 boys will take the oath of the Boy Scouts of America and receive badges as Tenderfoot Scouts.

More than 4000 members of the organization are expected to take part, and James E. West, chief scout executive of the country, will be present. He will administer the oath to the tenderfoot, and later deliver a brief address.

A feature of the program will be a demonstration of scoutcraft—fire building by friction, boiling water, field work and knot tying—by a troop of blind boys from the Scout School for the Blind. The program, on the whole, will be in the nature of a pageant, with frequent intervals of popular and stirring music by Seymour's band.

HOUSE TO VOTE TODAY ON BARRING TAX-FREE STOCKS

Constitutional Amendment Resolution Is Attacked by Members of Both Parties During Debate.

SOUTH RAISES CRY OF STATE'S RIGHTS

Committee's Changes in the Mellon Bill Affects Tax on Telegraph Messages and Theater Admissions.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Prepared to vote today on the constitutional amendment resolution to prohibit the issuance of tax-exempt securities, members of both parties in the House continued vigorous attacks on the measure, on the ground that it was an invasion of states' rights. The vote will be taken at the conclusion of four hours' debate.

Although fighting almost solidly for passage of the amendment introduced by Chairman Green of the Ways and Means Committee, the Republicans took comfort from the fact the Democrats were its chief opponents.

The rule to take up the measure passed yesterday by a vote of 225 to 132, or less than the necessary two-thirds that will be required to submit the amendment to the voters. The chief opposition came from the Democrats of the South. They were supported by some Northern Republicans, notably Representative Graham, Republican, Pennsylvania.

Anticipating defeat of the amendment, Republicans were preparing to attack their Democratic colleagues for taking "what they charge is an inconsistent position in opposing the Mellon plan, while obstructing legislation designed to eliminate one of the most effective systems for enabling men of wealth to dodge payment of income taxes."

Two Democratic Advocates Plan. Some of the Democratic leaders, among them Crisp of Georgia and Huddleston of Alabama, supported the amendment. Speakers in its favor were Green, Republican, Iowa; Burton, Republican, Ohio; Snell, Republican, New York; Longworth, Republican, Ohio, and Frear, Republican, Wisconsin and others.

Speakers against the amendment included Poy (D., N. C.), Garrett (D., Tenn.), Oldfield (D., Ala.), Blanton (D., Texas), Bankhead (D., Ala.), Moore (D., Va.), Rosenbloom (R., W. Va.), and Graham (R., Pa.).

Representative Graham voiced the constitutional objection by saying the proposed amendment would tend to destroy the Constitution itself, which reserved to the states a right to issue securities of this character. The chief reason for opposition among the Southern Democrats was that it not only constituted an attack upon state rights, but prevented the building of newer and comparatively undeveloped communities.

Chairman Green said the proposed amendment was neither sectional nor political, that it went no further as an invasion of state rights than the income tax amendment, which the Democrats have supported.

It was approved, he said, by the farm organizations of the country. The wealth of the country, he claimed, was being concentrated in the hands of a few and the proposed methods offered a way of stopping this tendency.

Important Changes in Tax Bill. Among the more important changes made by the Ways and Means Committee in the draft of the Mellon bill submitted by the Treasury Department are: A provision proposed by Chairman Green for reduction of 25 per cent in the tax payable in 1924 on the incomes of 1923.

Definition of earned income is changed to provide that at least $5000 of the income of a taxpayer shall be considered earned, and that in no case shall the earned net income of a taxpayer be considered to be in excess of $20,000. Board of Tax appeals is taken entirely away from the Treasury Department and entirely from under the control of the Secretary of the Treasury, and it is provided that its members shall be appointed by the President.

Provides for the repeal of the tax on telephones and telegraph messages, while the tax on theater admissions is changed to apply to those in excess of 50 cents. The tax imposed upon the proprietors of theaters, circuses and other public exhibitions is repealed and the tax imposed upon bowling alleys and billiard rooms is cut in half.

The income and surtax rates as provided for in the bill are: "The normal tax on the first $2000 of income, including crepe, velvet, lace, satin, champagne, Poiret, Samuels, French flannel, half price and less. Latest, newest, dress, better for half."

SPECIAL-BRAND-NEW EMBROIDERED SERGE DRESS, $2.95
OPEN UNTIL 5 P. M.
1012 N. GRAND

$4000 of net income is reduced from 4 per cent to 3 per cent and upon the remainder of the net income from 8 per cent to 6 per cent. Surtax Rates Reduced.

The surtax rates are reduced so as to begin at 1 per cent on net incomes from $10,000 to $12,000; an additional 1 per cent is added for each $2000 of net income up to $35,000; 1 per cent additional is added for the next $4000 of net income up to $40,000, and then 1 per cent additional is added for each $5000 of net income up to a maximum of 25 per cent on $100,000 and over.

The tax on earned income is reduced by 25 per cent of the amount of the tax attributable to the earned income. Earned income is defined as wages, salaries, professional fees and other amounts received as compensation for physical services actually rendered. It is provided that net incomes of $5000 and less shall be considered as earned and that at least $5000 of net income in excess of that amount shall be considered as earned. It is further provided that the amount of the earned net income shall not be considered to be in excess of $50,000.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Valentine Harvey, London accountant, arrested on his wife's complaint of non-support when he arrived from England Tuesday, was released yesterday, and immediately departed for Montreal. His wife, Peggy Biggott Harvey, testified she now was earning her own living, and the court dismissed her complaint on the ground that it should have been brought in the Supreme Court. Harvey, who had been reported to be a member of the invading British squash tennis players now playing in Canada, explained that this was erroneous.

By the Associated Press.

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Feb. 8.—While Walter Monroe Miller, new Warden at the Texas Penitentiary here, was officiating at the execution of five negroes early today, the former Warden, R. F. Coleman, peacefully slept at his home here because he chose to follow the dictates of his conscience. He resigned the post of Warden last month when it became known that he would have to act as executioner in all death sentences in Texas. The State was searched for a successor. Miller, former Sheriff of Johnson County, finally was decided on.

"It just couldn't be done, boys," former Warden Coleman told newspaper men.

"A Warden can't be Warden and killer, too. The penitentiary is a place to reform a man, not to kill him."

But with Warden Miller it was different.

New Warden's Attitude.

"It's a case of duty with me," he said. "I have hanged several men while I was Sheriff, and to touch the button or pull the switch of an electric chair means no more to me than pulling the lever of the gallows. At any rate, it's more human—the chair."

Coleman is now proprietor of a hotel here. He had been Warden for 10 years, but his terms did not run consecutively.

The negroes executed were Charles Reynolds, Ewell Morris, George Washington, Mack Matthews and Melvin Johnson.

All five negroes were convicted of murder. Reynolds, 27 years old, was convicted in Red River County for the killing of a white man. Morris, 22, was charged with killing a white man and convicted in Victoria County. Washington, 33, was convicted in Newton County for the death of a negro man. Matthews, 55, was convicted of killing his wife in Newton County. Johnson, 19, was convicted in Liberty County of the murder of a negro woman.

Order of the Executions.

The first negro to go to the chair was Reynolds. He was followed by Ewell Morris, George Morris, Washington and Matthews.

Desperate efforts were made to obtain a last-minute reprieve for Johnson, the fifth negro. Warden Miller allowed time for a long distance call to the State capital at Austin while the chair waited.

The five negroes were the first condemned men to be electrocuted in Texas. The law changing the legal mode of imposing the death penalty by hanging was passed at the last regular session of the State Legislature.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Valentine Harvey, London accountant, arrested on his wife's complaint of non-support when he arrived from England Tuesday, was released yesterday, and immediately departed for Montreal. His wife, Peggy Biggott Harvey, testified she now was earning her own living, and the court dismissed her complaint on the ground that it should have been brought in the Supreme Court. Harvey, who had been reported to be a member of the invading British squash tennis players now playing in Canada, explained that this was erroneous.

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Feb. 8.—While Walter Monroe Miller, new Warden at the Texas Penitentiary here, was officiating at the execution of five negroes early today, the former Warden, R. F. Coleman, peacefully slept at his home here because he chose to follow the dictates of his conscience. He resigned the post of Warden last month when it became known that he would have to act as executioner in all death sentences in Texas. The State was searched for a successor. Miller, former Sheriff of Johnson County, finally was decided on.

"It just couldn't be done, boys," former Warden Coleman told newspaper men.

"A Warden can't be Warden and killer, too. The penitentiary is a place to reform a man, not to kill him."

But with Warden Miller it was different.

New Warden's Attitude.

"It's a case of duty with me," he said. "I have hanged several men while I was Sheriff, and to touch the button or pull the switch of an electric chair means no more to me than pulling the lever of the gallows. At any rate, it's more human—the chair."

Coleman is now proprietor of a hotel here. He had been Warden for 10 years, but his terms did not run consecutively.

All five negroes were convicted of murder. Reynolds, 27 years old, was convicted in Red River County for the killing of a white man. Morris, 22, was charged with killing a white man and convicted in Victoria County. Washington, 33, was convicted in Newton County for the death of a negro man. Matthews, 55, was convicted of killing his wife in Newton County. Johnson, 19, was convicted in Liberty County of the murder of a negro woman.

Order of the Executions.

The first negro to go to the chair was Reynolds. He was followed by Ewell Morris, George Morris, Washington and Matthews.

Desperate efforts were made to obtain a last-minute reprieve for Johnson, the fifth negro. Warden Miller allowed time for a long distance call to the State capital at Austin while the chair waited.

NEW DEPARTMENT ON REGULATION OF SMOKE FAVORED

Abatement Ordinance Pending in Board of Aldermen Seven Months Amended by Safety Committee.

FAVORABLE REPORT READY FOR TODAY

Five Changes Made in Original Bill Represent Victory of Union Labor
Over Original Plan.

First action towards passage of the smoke-abatement ordinance pending in the Board of Aldermen for seven months, was taken by the Aldermanic Public Safety Committee yesterday, in deciding to report the bill favorably to the board today.

Five amendments to the bill were agreed on by the committee, representing a victory of union labor desires over the plan urged by the chief sponsor of the bill, the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Smoke Regulation, though not changing the general purpose of the bill.

The bill creates a new department of city government, the Division of Smoke Regulation, to be directed by a Smoke Commissioner, appointed by the Mayor. Aside from creating this department, the chief difference between the bill and the existing smoke ordinance, which has proved ineffectual for lack of "teeth" and specialized administration, is that the bill would reduce the period in any one hour in which a stack may emit "dense smoke" from eight to six minutes.

Labor's Chief Triumph.

Labor's chief triumph, under proposed amendments submitted by Charles Cassidy of the Stationary Engineers' Union, was the adoption of one eliminating prosecution of firemen and engineers for smoking chimneys, leaving the owner alone responsible, and subject to a fine of $25 to $50, on conviction of violating the provisions.

Another labor amendment adopted would limit employment of smoke inspectors to licensed stationary or locomotive engineers, experienced in the type of work they undertake and familiar with the principal kinds of boilers and furnaces used here; proper methods of firing them and proper fuels for them.

The Chamber of Commerce provision that the commissioner and assistant commissioner be mechanical engineers was retained, but the proposed salary of the commissioner was reduced from $1600 to $4000 a year, and minimum age for the commissioner was made 25 instead of 32 years, while that for his assistant was raised from 20 to 32.

Changes in Advisory Board.

Another labor amendment relative to the proposed advisory board was adopted. The board would have the board composed of a mechanical engineer, a locomotive engineer and a stationary engineer, instead of three mechanical engineers.

The bill fixes monthly salaries of those under the commissioner as follows: Assistant, $250; eight smoke inspectors at $175; a clerk and a stenographer at $100. The commissioner and assistant would have to furnish $10,000 bond each. It is provided that before any legal action for violation of the regulations can be instituted, at least four days' notice by registered mail must be given the owner of a boiler or furnace concerned. The probable cause of the violation and provisions contained necessary to prevent repetition of the violation.

JOHNSON TO STAY IN RACE

Senator Says His Campaign Will Be Active and Aggressive.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Senator Johnson of California, last night formally denied reports that he was to withdraw from the race for the Republican presidential nomination.

The reports circulated about his withdrawal are, of course, untrue," he said. "They come from my opponents, who after manufacturing them, have the best news-sheets print them."

"I have just come from Chicago, where I have been in consultation with representatives of the primary states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. All were enthusiastic and optimistic. We have now an active, aggressive campaign, which will certainly result in a Republican nomination."

"I am confident that the Republican nomination will be won by a man who will lead the country to a new era of peace and prosperity."

ITALY RECOGNIZES RUSSIA, SIGNING TRADE AGREEMENT

Mussolini's Government Will Name Ambassador to Moscow Immediately, Restoring Relations.

TREATY WELCOMED IN OFFICIAL DOM

Economists Hope Italy Will Be Enabled to Free Self From Dependence on U. S. for Wheat and Oil.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Feb. 5.—Representatives of the Italian and Russian Governments signed the commercial treaty today, and thus, in conformity with Premier Mussolini's previous decision, established de jure recognition of Russia.

The Italian Government will immediately appoint an Ambassador to Moscow, thus restoring diplomatic relations.

News of the signature of the treaty created an excellent impression in political circles, particularly with respect to Mussolini's position on the eve of the general elections. It proved that the semi-official statement made by the Foreign Ministry last Sunday, that Russia's refusal to sign was merely a formality, was in keeping with the facts.

Economists here hope that by the new arrangement with Russia, Italy will free herself from dependence on the American continent for her wheat and oil, purchasing these products from Russia and Rumania, where her money is at a premium.

The convention provides for numerous reciprocal benefits, including a reduction of Russian tariffs in favor of Italian ports; the assignment to Italy by Russia of certain Italian industrial products; reservation of coastwise traffic in the Black Sea for the Italian flag and the surrender by Italy of property in Italy belonging to the former Russian empire.

Treaty Likely to Call Forth Protest From MacDonald.

Copyright, 1934, by the Press and Publishing Co., Inc., New York City, and the Post-Dispatch.
ROME, Feb. 5.—The Post-Dispatch and New York World learn that the incident of Premier MacDonald's recognition of Russia before Italy could do so is likely to have important results, one of the first being the probable recall of Marquis Della Torretta, Italian Ambassador in London.

He sent Rome reassuring reports about the British Labor Cabinet's intentions, which Russia's sudden refusal to sign the Italo-Russian trade agreement flatly contradicted.

It is said MacDonald raised with Russia objections to two clauses in the Italian agreement. Italian monopoly of the Black Sea coasting trade and reduced Russian railway rates for Italian goods. Diplomatic circles here predict a lively passage between Premier Mussolini and MacDonald before long as a result.

Italy Says Her Recognition Preceded That of Britain.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Feb. 5.—It is claimed that Italian recognition of Russia, announced with the signing of a commercial treaty, preceded that of the British Government, taking place Jan. 31, when negotiations for the treaty were completed.

The Corriere Italiano, moreover, emphasized the fact that Premier Mussolini settled all the pending questions between the two countries, while Premier MacDonald of Great Britain made only a statement recognizing Russia.

By the signing of the treaty, the Italian Fascist, giving the Socialists and Communists a "burning reason in political realism and patriotism."

SENATE PASSES BRIDGE BILL

Extends Time for Completion of Municipal Span.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—On motion of Senator Spencer, the Senate yesterday passed the House bill extending for three years the time for completion of the St. Louis municipal bridge. There was no opposition. The bill carries a provision that the St. Louis authorities must get the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission before they can build any additions to the bridge in East St. Louis. This was inserted because of representations by outside business interests that the proposed northeastern approach would deface the city. The bill is now ready for the President's signature.

KIDNAPING THEORY OF BOY'S DISAPPEARANCE

Belleville Police Believe That There May Have Been Revenge Motives.

—The search continues without result for Lester Hall 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, 419 North Third street, Belleville, who disappeared Monday while at play in the rear of his home.

After futile search of Richland Creek and a quarry near by, the Belleville police have become convinced that the boy was kidnaped.
As the father has no wealth for paying a ransom, they believe the motive was revenge.

Information has been given to the police by Hall about a man who might have such a motive,
and search is being made for him.
Many rumors have been run down, and 150 boy scouts have searched the region around the boy's home on the theory that he might have wandered away and become lost.

Mrs. Hall has been prostrated since the boy disappeared, and Hall has closed his saloon and is devoting all of his time to the search. There are eight other children in the family.

FOUND DEAD IN LONDON HOTEL

Mrs. Sargue Adored Revolution and Had Many Remarkable Adventures.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Mrs. Sargue, the famous continental syndicalist, was found dead in bed in a London hotel yesterday. She was here as a correspondent for a Belgian newspaper, seeking interviews with Premier MacDonald, Lloyd George and other notables.

Mrs. Sargue was a daughter of the French philosopher, Durand Degrès, and her grandfather was the Russian Gen. Krikoff. In the course of her flaming career she has been described as "Europe's most dangerous woman, the stormy petrel and 'Mrs. Trouble'."

She headed the women's hunger march to Tower Hill in 1913 and four years previously attracted notoriety as being the only journalist at the Lisbon International Peace Congress, to remain seated on the entry of King Carlos. Few women, if report is correct, ever had such remarkable adventures as Mrs. Sargue. She once delivered a fiery revolutionary oration in Florence while looking down the rifles of the gendarmes and was waylaid in France by a mob sworn to kill her. But she always escaped and never tired of declaring that she adored revolution.

Illinois Man, 51, Weds Woman, 79.
PANA, Ill., Feb. 5.—Mrs. Mary Blankenship, 79 years old, of Ramsey, and Anson Kinsman, 51 years old, of Maroa, Civil War veterans, were married today. Two daughters of the bridegroom were witnesses of the ceremony.

UNION ELECTRIC TO SPEND
$100,000,000 IN SIX YEARS

President of Light and Power Company Tells of Plans to Expand to Meet Demands.

Louis H. Egan, president of the Union Electric Light & Power Co., in an address before Rotary Clubs of St. Louis, East St. Louis and Belleville at Hotel Statler yesterday, declared that the company will have to spend twice the $35,000,000 total to be spent on the new Cahokia power plant for cables, poles and other equipment for distribution of current.

Thus, he said, the company plans to spend about $100,000,000 for enlarging its plant during the next six years. He pointed out that this sum, to be spent by one corporation, exceeds the amount of bonds for municipal improvements voted a year ago.

"Perhaps it may seem startling," Egan said, "when I say that if the demand of this district continues to increase at its rate of the past 20 years, that even with gigantic Cahokia completed we will face the necessity of building almost immediately another plant of like proportions."

Anderson Trial at Linn Feb. 13.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5.—Trial of State Senator Tillman W. Anderson of Commerce, Mo., on a charge of transporting stolen property, growing out of the alleged theft of an adding machine from the State Capitol during the last session of the Legislature, has been set for Feb. 13 in the Osage County Circuit Court at Linn.

NEW BOND DEMANDED OF CONVICTED MOTOR PROMOTER

Federal Fugitive Warrant Issued at Los Angeles for G. L. Moore, Prosecuted in East St. Louis.

A fugitive warrant was issued yesterday at Los Angeles for George L. Moore, Hollywood business man and promoter, at the request of the Federal authorities of East St. Louis, who want him to put up a new bond of $10,000 in place of the one he gave in June, 1921, to cover his appeal from a conviction of selling stock of the Moore Motor Vehicle Co., with three years' imprisonment and $4500 fine.

During the trial of Moore and associates, which lasted about a month, it was shown that $966,000 stock of the company's plant, Danville, Ill., was sold on misstatements of the company's earnings and prospects. The company went into bankruptcy before the trial.

A new bond is required because information has come to the Federal authorities that Moore is about to leave the country and because one of the two persons on the present bond has died.

Moore has not been arrested under the fugitive warrant. His attorney at Los Angeles says he is out of town, but will return and give a new bond.

Bryan Indorses Beck Musgrave.
By the Associated Press.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 5.—William Jennings Bryan issued a statement here yesterday indorsing Beck Musgrave as candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in the Alabama preferential presidential primary in opposition to Senator Underwood.

KING GEORGE'S CLOCK HALF AN HOUR AHEAD OF TIME

Precedent Was Set by Edward Who Got Idea From Earl, Who Wanted Punctuality.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The announcement that King George would eat his Christmas dinner at 8:30 o'clock at Sandringham caused surprise for it is against custom for his majesty to dine at any other time than 8 o'clock.

This, however, has been explained by a generally unknown fact that for more than half a century all of the clocks at the royal estate at Sandringham have been kept half an hour ahead of Greenwich time. The idea was introduced by King Edward when Prince of Wales, and was borrowed by him from a neighbor, the late Earl of Leicester to whom in the early days of their married life the late King and his bride were frequent visitors.

It was the Earl's custom to keep all of the clocks on his estate half an hour fast so as to insure punctuality. The Prince was so taken with the idea that he adopted it.

So well was the custom worked out in practice and so deep rooted is it among the villagers, that there is no other time in the village and even the trains stopping there use it.

$75,000 SETTLED FOR $12,000

Deprives Jury and Witnesses in Case of Motion Picture Show in Court.

Jury and witnesses in the case of George O. Rosner against the United Railways for $75,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been suffered June 17, 1921, were deprived of an expected motion picture show in court today for $12,000.

Rosner was a motorman who had been assigned temporarily as conductor of a trailer. He was crushed between the motor car and the trailer while adjusting the trolley. His injuries caused him to leave his home and he is now in the City Sanitarium, his wife representing him as guardian in the litigation.

Damages were asked for on the ground that the company had been negligent in not warning him of the danger of standing on the hangers between the cars to adjust the trolley.

The company planned as its defense to show by motion pictures taken at Chouteau and "Tiffany

ADLER GETS 20 YEARS; CONFESSED TO 50 ROBBERIES

Convicted by Jury of Holding Up Hyman Sterner, Sept. 30, and Taking Watch and Money.

Twenty years' imprisonment was the punishment awarded to Harry Adler for highway robbery by a jury in Judge Ittner's court today.

Adler had made verbal confessions to more than 50 robberies,
but had refused to make a written confession, or to plead guilty in any case, unless he were assured of not more than five years' imprisonment.

Circuit Attorney Sidener refused to agree on five years, but offered him 25 years, which Adler refused to take. Three more indictments are pending against him, and the next case will be taken up Feb. 27.

The punishment for robbery, under the Missouri statutes, is imprisonment for a term from five years up to life.

The robbery for which Adler was tried was committed the night of Sept. 30 last, in the 5700 block on Kingsbury avenue. He got out of an automobile and held up Hyman Sterner, pressing a revolver against his ribs, but not striking him or firing the revolver. He took $5 and Sterner's watch and tie pin. After his arrest, he returned the money and pin to Sterner, and said he had melted the watch case.

No evidence as to the numerous other cases against Adler came before the jury, but Assistant Circuit Attorney Garstang urged the jury to give a "substantial punishment."
The jury considered the case about a half hour, arrested Dec. 15 last, Adler with arrested Dec. 15 last,
in his room at 3505 Franklin avenue. He said at that time that he was 22 years old, and that he was the son of a rabbi, but did not "have much to do with" the folks
at home.

He went over a list of robbery reports, and pointed out various ones as his "jobs." In one case, he related, he pursued a negro who ran from him, and took $15 from him. "This is the robbery for which he is to be tried next."
Through his statements, two other young men, whom he named as aiding him in the theft of automobiles and in committing robberies, were arrested.

GANDHI REGRETS RELEASE WAS BECAUSE OF ILLNESS

Says It Is Not Sufficient Ground—
Resort to Civil Disobedience Unnecessary.

By the Associated Press. BOMBAY, Feb. 5.—Mohandas Gandhi has written a letter in which he expresses regret that the Bombay Government released him from prison because of illness, as he does not regard the illness of a prisoner affords ground for liberation.

His release, he says, has not brought him relief because he is overwhelmed with a sense of the responsibility in which he is now not fit to discharge.

Two years of solitude and hard thinking, he says, have convinced him of the necessity for a constructive program, in the prosecution of which the people need never resort to civil disobedience, although his belief in the latter plan has not weakened.

"The Englishmen also are friends; don't treat them as enemies," he writes. "The struggle against the system for which the British Government stands is not against the Englishmen who are administering the system. Those who fail to bear in mind this distinction harm the cause."

The letter was sent to the president of the National Congress.

FINDS COLORS AFFECT GROWTH

Speaker Tells of Effect of Various Shades on Guinea Pigs.

By the Associated Press. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 5.— There is a possibility that the shades of wall coverings may effect the weight of persons living in the house, according to H. A. Gar-diner of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, who yesterday addressed the International Association of Master House Painters and Decorators in convention here.

In his experiments with guinea pigs he placed in different colored compartments, he found that those in light-colored boxes became fat
while those in dark colored containers lost weight. "If conclusions are warranted from such brief tests," he said, "it would appear that light colors of high reflection values are most favorable to the rapid growth of animals, while colors of low luminosity exert an effect that retards development."

WOOD PARDONS 116 PRISONERS

Nineteen Are Women About to Become Mothers.

By the Associated Press. MANILA, Feb. 5.—Governor General Leonard Wood has pardoned 116 prisoners serving sentences at Bilibid Prison and in two penal colonies on Southern islands
during the past week of amnesty.

Among those pardoned were 19
women who were about to become mothers.

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an absolutely effective medicine that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and breaks the inflamed membranes and kills the germs.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recommended by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to pneumonia.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. No matter how long standing, in any case, after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE
TO OPPOSE REED

Superintendent of Organization
Says Senator Is Generally Recognized as Wet.

Presidential aspirations of United States Senator Reed will be opposed by the Anti-Saloon League everywhere and particularly in Missouri, Dr. A. H. Post, superintendent of the Missouri League, said today in making his annual report to the Board of Trustees.

"The league will do everything possible to bring about the defeat of Senator Reed because of his attitude toward prohibition," Dr. Post said. "It is generally recognized throughout the entire United States that he is a 'wet.'"

"The league will make searching inquiry during the campaign as to the viewpoint of candidates for legislative office on law enforcement questions, particularly as regards the prohibition amendment," he added.

"Generally speaking the presidential candidates now in the race, excepting, of course, Senator Reed and several of the so-called dark horses, are acceptable to the Anti-Saloon League," he said.

The Missouri League collected $38,000 during the year which closed last month. Most of the contributions were from churches affiliated with the league. All money received, excepting a balance of several hundred dollars, was expended in payment of salaries, office expenses and in sending $115 a week to national headquarters at Westerville, O.

Jury Hears Mortimer's Parents.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Dr. George B. Cullidge and his wife of Philadelphia testified today before the Federal grand jury investigating the conduct of the Veterans' Bureau under the administration of former Director Charles R. Forbes. They are parents of Mrs. Elias H. Mortimer, of Philadelphia, who testified yesterday after Mortimer had appeared before the inquisitors. Mortimer, a lawyer, last year testified before a Senate committee that he had paid Forbes $5000. Mortimer represented certain firms which were seeking building contracts. Forbes denied his charges.

When one woman speaks to another

miracles begin

HERE IS a recent example that will amaze you. It is one of the most remarkable we know. Less than eighteen months ago we placed in the hands of a few women a new and different coffee. Today that coffee is the fastest selling coffee in America, chiefly, we are told, because

It satisfies dissatisfied husbands
For years we heard men complain that coffee was uneven—sometimes over-roasted, sometimes under-roasted, sometimes too strong, sometimes too weak. Then some bold spirit said: "Why can't someone give us a man's coffee that is uniform in quality and stays uniform?"

So we set out to develop that kind of coffee. Then a discouraging thing happened. Old experienced coffee men said it couldn't be done. "Men differ too widely in their tastes," they said; "what suits one man won't suit another."

No one can please everybody. But we believe there is something peculiar to the soil of this country that makes all exacting men like the same thing, whether they live on the plains of Texas, or in the palaces of Fifth Avenue, New York—whether they ride in limousines or trolley cars—whether they work up in skyscrapers, or down on farms.

What they all want is a real man's full-flavored coffee, and we pledged all the resources at our command to produce it.

Now it so happens that men are often born with a very wonderful, special faculty, whether for musical composition, baseball playing, mathematics or coffee-blending.

Premier had such a man
His father was a coffee expert. His three brothers are coffee experts. He knows coffee-growing as well as coffee-blending; coffee-roasting as well as coffee-packing. He has devoted a lifetime, not alone to the study of coffee, but—what is more important still—to the needs of men, what they want.

And now critical men in every section of the country are kind enough to tell us he has found it, and we hope your husband will say so, too, if you ever decide to try Premier.

This, then, madam, was the first thing that set women talking, for when you give a woman anything that will help cheer and brighten her home, she quickly spreads the news. And the second thing was this:

It economizes for economical wives
The vacuum container—the only air-tight container science knows, delivers all the original strength, all the rich, natural coffee flavor, all the fresh, fragrant aroma of Premier—not a part of it, but one hundred per cent of it, right on your table, with nothing lost, nothing wasted in the air.

That is why many wives are now getting two cups of coffee for what they have been paying for one.

Premier is made neither to fit a price, nor to equip salesmen with "talking points" to appeal to the weaknesses of certain people—those people who are easily influenced by prices rather than values.

We are going to make the best coffee that money and human skill can make—let the price fall where it will.

For we shall never forget what A. T. Stewart, the great merchant once said:

"Produce an article—any article—better than it has been produced before, and you are sure of a large and loyal following among the women of this country."

Former Superintendent
Blakey Says Boys Are Victims of System "Rotten as Hell Itself."

CRITICISM ALSO MADE BY TALBOT

C. M. Harrison, Head of Institution, Maintains That Staff Is as 'Good or Better Than Before.'

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
BOONEVILLE, Mo., Feb. 2.—The Missouri Reformatory for Boys here "is so seriously hampered and handicapped by a spoils system of administration that the condition of the institution, from the standpoint of effective work in the reclaiming of wayward and delinquent boys and young men, is far below reasonably attainable standards."

So reads the annual report of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, made public last week by former Talbot, secretary. A Post-Dispatch reporter followed up the report by interviewing Talbot, whose resignation as secretary became effective last Saturday. C. M. Harrison, superintendent of the reformatory, and A. V. Blakey, former superintendent of the reformatory and a former member of the State Penal Board.

Talbot added somewhat to his criticism of the spoils system and his statement that Harrison—a newspaper editor and Republican politician—is incompetent as superintendent.

Former Penitentiary Commissioner Blakey said: "The reformatory is so rotten now it's hard to see it could be worse. The unfortunate boys are being used as pawns on a political chess board. The administration is being prostituted for political purposes."

Talbot was asked what he meant by the "spoils system" at the reformatory. He said he did not wish to "corrupt" Superintendent Harrison, who was merely playing the political game according to his lights, its ill effects on the institution being incidental. Talbot said that Harrison has dismissed efficient employees just because they were Democrats, and hired in their stead inefficient, untrained Republicans just because they were Republicans. Talbot himself is a Republican.

Talbot called attention to a letter from Superintendent Harrison to a Democratic employee in which Harrison said: "Because of the great pressure from all over the State for appointments to places in this institution, it has been decided to limit places to not more than two to any one family, effective Feb. 2, 1932. Under this ruling, employment will terminate at that time, not because of any dissatisfaction with your services, for they have been faithful, efficient and appreciated, but simply on account of this ruling, which is to be uniformly applied."

Blakey's Resignation.
Blakey, a Democrat, was superintendent of the reformatory here until August, 1931, when he accepted appointment by Gov. Hyde to the State Penal Board. He resigned from that board the following March, declaring the majority members of the board were advised of serious conditions at the reformatory and yet feared and failed to act. He is now in the banking business.

Blakey recalled that Harrison, in the presence of the officers of the institution and their families, made a speech, when he became superintendent, telling the employees they would not be discharged for political reasons. Yet within two months, Blakey asserted, Harrison was dismissing employees and giving no reason other than he had to let them out in order to take care of Republican constituents.

Harrison's policies have been dictated by Gov. Hyde, to whom he owes his political fortune, Blakey continued. "The records of the Department of Penal Institutions will show that Harrison was the personal secretary of Gov. Hyde," Blakey said. "In a brief, curt and not even courteous manner, directed to the department, he commanded: 'Appoint Cliff Harrison Superintendent Missouri Reformatory, effective at once.' Harrison had orders from his superior and he practically ignored the board in the management of this institution."

Blakey's Charges.
As proof in support of his charges that "rottenness" exists at the reformatory, Blakey said the following information had come to him:

All Worn Out This Winter?

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

DOES Winter find you lame, stiff and achy—worried all day long with nagging backache and sharp, rheumatic twinges? Do you feel worn-out, nervous and dispirited—older and slower than you should? Then you should be giving some attention to your kidneys. These wonderful little sponges filter every drop of blood in the body. But Winter's colds and chills are apt to weaken the kidneys and weak kidneys allow poisons to accumulate in the life-giving blood, upsetting the whole bodily machinery. Then comes lameness, soreness and stiffness; daily backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and distressing kidney irregularities. One feels constantly tired, nervous, depressed and utterly miserable. Don't risk neglect! Help your weakened kidneys with a stimulant diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. Are endorsed here at home. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These St. Louis Folks Found Relief:

E. W. Henrich, City Fireman, 2812 Madison St. Says: "Some time ago I had a cold that settled in my kidneys. I felt awfully sore through my legs and when I stooped, I had catches in the small of my back. My kidneys were irregular in action and my rest at night was broken. I used Doan's Pills. They relieved me of the trouble and strengthened my back and kidneys."

Mrs. J. W. Long, 415 Osborn Ave. Says: "I felt miserable all over, almost as if I could hardly stand to go another minute. I felt dizzy and little specks floated before my eyes. Everything turned black. I often referred to it as blind staggers. I started using Doan's Pills and was soon my former self again." (Statement given October 12, 1931.) On September 22, 1932, Mrs. Long said: "Time has not changed my opinion of Doan's Pills. I gladly confirm my former statement."

Geo. Bernhardt, Farmer, 2512 N. Leake Ave. Says: "I had trouble with my kidneys. Sharp pains came through the small of my back when I stooped. I was dull and without any energy. My kidneys were weak and didn't act right. I used Doan's Pills and they rid me of the trouble. Doan's strengthened my back and kidneys and freed me from the pain. I use Doan's occasionally and they never fail to remove the trouble."

MORE CHARGES OF INEFFICIENCY AT REFORMATORY
him from official sources:
A Democratic chaplain, physical director was invited to resign and was replaced by a Republican, who knew little or nothing about religion or sports. This man later was brought before the Penal Board and admitted accepting a watch from an inmate, but denied he knew it was stolen property.
An employee took grapes from the reformatory's vineyard and made wine. This employee denied any of the wine was used, but others testified 20 gallons were drunk before the "plant" was discovered and destroyed.
The housekeeper said inmates periodically carried large gunny sacks full of empty whisky bottles from officers' rooms.
An officer of the institution—a Republican, incidentally—said 20 boy inmates had confessed that they were given "dope" and then subjected to abuses by the older inmates.
Inmates roamed the streets of Boonville after dark, insulting women and girls and robbing stores and residences.
"Innocent Victims of System."
"These are only a few of the things that are wrong at the reformatory," said Blakey. "I do not think they are wrong because Harrison and Hyde happen to be Republicans. I do think that political control of the institution is a damnable thing and should be fought because it brings about just such conditions as I have described. The unfortunate boys are innocent victims of a system that is as rotten as hell itself."
Supt. Harrison was named by the correspondent at his official residence on the institution grounds. He is an elderly man, a father, and he confessed great enthusiasm for boys and their reformation. The superintendent pays $3000 a year salary, aside from a free home and maintenance.
This week there were 610 inmates of the Reformatory, of which 160 were negroes. The ages of the inmates range from 5 to 30 years. To handle these there is a staff of 58 men and women. When Harrison succeeded Blakey all but 11 of the employees were Democrats, whereas now all but 12 are Republicans, Harrison said. "As a rule, when vacancies occur, I appoint Republicans," he said, in explanation of the turnover.
"I guess nobody in a public office can avoid criticism," Harrison continued. "We have a very efficient organization. Right now we have about 700 boys on parole and only 10 or 15 have ever gotten into further trouble."
Alluding to adverse reports of the Reformatory made by social welfare workers, Harrison said he believed the workers would accomplish more good by seeking to prevent crime at its source. He thinks it time to begin to sterilize confirmed criminals and the feeble-minded to forestall reproduction of such.
Chaplains Resigned.
As to the Republican chaplain, Harrison admitted he was not "suitable" for spiritual work. The man in question resigned recently. Boonville pastors now serve.
That immorality exists within the Reformatory was admitted. However, Harrison pointed out that the inmates are not of the highest class and asserted immorality has always existed to some extent. He said it was impossible for the adult inmates to abuse the children, because they are segregated, except at meals and in chapel.

Supt. Harrison denied there are any drunkards in his employ, or that any employees are law violators. Most of them are skilled workers and all are of good character, he added.
Inmates are not allowed to visit Boonville at liberty now, Harrison went on, as complaints were received from the townspeople. Visits are made only when the inmates are accompanied by officers.
"Escapes, the superintendent said, form a major problem. The reformatory has neither cells nor walls, and much of the vocational training is given out-of-doors. As an added inducement to escape, trains pass a few feet from the buildings and the inmates can board them and disappear from view before they are missed. Harrison has just bought a pair of bloodhound pups and thinks they will prove valuable in pursuits.

RETURNS TO PRISON AT 70

Slayer of Padrone Had Served 15 Years—Parole Terms Violated.

By the Associated Press.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 5.—

Old John Benedetto, who served

the last 15 of his 70 years in Marquette Penitentiary, and who was paroled last June, is going back to Michigan to resume serving his sentence of 23 years. He was paroled on condition that he return to Italy. Instead, he came to Boston and found a job when he learned his son had come to Boston. Later he had lived alone, for he and his son became estranged.

An officer came from Michigan

yesterday for John.

The sentence was imposed for the murder of a padrone in an argument over payment for a job in a mine.

MELLON REPLIES TO CHARGES

ABOUT BUREAU OF ENGRAVING

Says Differences in Style of Bond

Numbers Was Due to Use of

New Machinery.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Secretary Mellon, answering another of the series of charges made in the general bond duplication controversy by Charles B. Brewer, said today the difference in type and style of numbers on some bonds

was due to addition of new numbering machines to the Bureau of Engraving equipment during the war.

When the great rush of bond issues forced the bureau to expand its equipment suddenly new machines had to be purchased quickly and the Treasury was unable to obtain machines of the same construction as those in use.

The bureau equipment had been altered little in the 20 years prior to the war, Mellon said.

The charges of Brewer were contained in a copy of a report he had sent previously to President Coolidge and Attorney-General Daugherty, and were made public when they were attached as exhibits to an injunction suit filed here against Government officials whom

Brewer said were interfering with this inquiry. They set forth that there had been duplications of bonds; that the Treasury had suppressed knowledge of them; that

Treasury officials had thwarted

Brewer in his attempts to uncover

the condition, and that duplicates of bonds had been destroyed

in the Treasury.

Secretary Mellon said for every bond issued its face value had found its way into the Treasury vaults.

BEAUTY CONTEST WINNER GETS

DIVORCE FROM STUDENT

Mrs. Edith Ray Phillips of East St.

Louis Charges Husband Beat

Her.

By the Associated Press.

Mrs. Edith Ray Phillips, who,

more than two years ago, stepped from behind the cigar counter in the Arcade Building, East St. Louis, long enough to win $1000 in a beauty prize contest conducted by the Chicago Tribune, obtained a divorce and restoration of her maiden name in East St. Louis yesterday.

As Edith Ray she had been se-cretely married to Wendell J. Phillips, a law student at Washington

University, on July 14 of last year,

having met Phillips about a year before, after his discharge, wounded, from the army in which he served during the World War.

Testimony by Miss Ray was to the effect that Phillips became brutal to her about three months after their marriage, that he had beaten her when she was reading or amusing herself by playing solitaire, and that she finally sepa-

HYDE PROPOSES TO QUELL FIGHT BY DICKEY MEN

Confers With Clements on Old Guard Charge of Misrepresentation to Coolidge's Managers.

Whether Walter S. Dickey of Kansas City and associate leaders of the Republican old guard in Missouri will submit peacefully to the leadership of Gov. Hyde, or will challenge his authority, is the subject of conferences here today between the Governor and Dr. E. B.
Clements, chairman of the Republican State Committee.

Dickey's friends say there will be a fight, because "somebody lied" to the Coolidge managers during the conference in Chicago last week at which control of the President's campaign in Missouri was handed over to Gov. Hyde.

William M. Butler, director of the Coolidge forces, has told Mis-sourians that Asa W. Butler, State Oil Inspector, who was named Missouri manager, was represented to him as satisfactory to Dickey.
Announcement of his appointment caused a considerable hubbub
among the Dickey men, however,
and they have been scouting around for a week trying to find out the truth about what happened in Chicago.

Barrett Accepted, Turned Down.
Hyde, Clements and Theodore Gary, chairman of the State Highway Commission, made the trip to Coolidge headquarters, it will be remembered. Hyde and Clements say their plan was not pictured as a compromise, but as a plan to appoint a "sell the State administration idea" (Hyde control) to the Coolidge chieftains, so why should they endeavor to please Dickey?
Gary has gone to Europe, so his version will remain unexplored for some time.

These discussions have brought out the fact also that in selling the Coolidge management the State administration recalled its approval, previously given by Hyde, of the appointment of Attorney-General
Barrett to that post.

Barrett went to Chicago and was appointed, returned to Jefferson City and got Hyde's approval, it is learned, but was asked by Hyde to delay announcement. Then the State administration political cabinet held a meeting, turned thumbs down on Barrett because he was not a Hyde supporter, the indecorous withdrawal of Barrett, and the victorious pilgrimage to Chicago followed.

Hyde Says He Will Control.
Barrett will not make trouble,
it is known, but some of his friends are not so harmoniously inclined. They and the Dickey men may worry the Governor before the close of the convention season.

Gov. Hyde said today, however, that he expected his friends to control the delegates to the Republican national convention from a majority of the 18 congressional districts of Missouri. Control of the State convention is not so certain, as the bulk of the delegates from St. Louis and from many of the South Missouri counties which form the backbone of Republican strength are likely to be anti-Hyde.

The Republican State Committee will meet at the Jefferson Hotel here at 2 p. m. Monday, at which time it will be determined when and where the Republican State convention will be held. The delegates probably will be elected upon a basis of the 1920 vote for President Harding, with one delegate to each 100 votes, which would mean a convention with 145 delegates. The State Committee doubtless will determine Monday also how the national committee will be elected, whether by the State convention or by delegates to the national convention, both methods having been used at one time or another.

Whichever plan will enable the surest application of Hyde control will be adopted in furtherance of the intention to elect Clements to succeed Jacob L. Babler, present national committeeman. Hyde is openly for Clements, which has scattered opposition to the chairman among several of the more powerful Hyde appointees.

Hyde Not Out for Vice President.
Hyde is not a candidate for Vice President, he said. Any movement to nominate him will be made without his consent, the Governor asserted. In discussing news dispatches from Kansas City of a movement toward that end.

Hyde, accompanied by Ben C.
Hyde, State Superintendent of Insurance, arrived last night on his way to Florida, to remain there three weeks. Hyde has been ordered South by physicians to recover from effects of a recent throat illness.

Both dined and went to a theater last night with Lieutenant-Governor Hiram Lloyd, who will be acting Governor in Hyde's absence.
The administration will take no part in the gubernatorial race until the other fight is over, Hyde said.
Lloyd wants the administration's endorsement for Governor.

Coolidge State Headquarters to Be in Jefferson City.

Missouri headquarters of the Coolidge campaign will be established immediately in the Madison Hotel at Jefferson City, it was announced yesterday by Asa W.
Butler, State manager of the campaign.

Butler also announced appointment of A. A. Speer, president of the First National Bank of Jefferson City, member of the recent constitutional convention and a former speaker of the House of Representatives, as treasurer of the campaign.

Piker Five Still Sees Chance to Tie Jayhawkers

Washington Can Divide Honor by Beating Kansas If Sooners Win Tomorrow.

Washington University's basketball team returned yesterday from its road trip undaunted by its defeats, and immediately began preparations for its conference battle here tomorrow night with the University of Nebraska. The game will be played at Francis Gymnasium, although the remaining games on the Piker schedule that with the least bit of luck will be played at the Coliseum.

The team returned in good condition. Coach White reports that with the least bit of luck the Pikers would have won that game by losing by the close score of 21-19 and 17-16.

Followers of the Pikers must think their favorites have an excellent chance to share the championship with Kansas. The Pikers are stronger than Kansas, and if their judgment is correct, the Jayhawkers are in for a defeat when they play at Oklahoma tomorrow night. In view of the enemy courts, they put up on the enemy courts, they are expected to win from both the Sooners and Kansas when they play here. Thus, if the Pikers win their remaining battles and Kansas succumb to Oklahoma, Washington and Kansas will be tied for first place with two defeats.

However, there are other dangerous combinations to be overcome in the meanwhile, and the Nebraska outfit which calls here tomorrow night is one of them.

The Pikers had a few minutes of scrimmage yesterday, but Coach White decided to let them rest up after their strenuous trip to the hotel. This afternoon's practice will be given to a very light workout, including some practice in basketball shooting. Washington will probably start tomorrow's game with the regular line-up.

Silence Tried as Weapon Against The Holdout Boys

But Players Can't Be Muzzled and News Leaks Out—Rickey Makes a Speech.

STUART WANTS $5000

Cardinal Manager Chants Sad Song About Youngsters With Big Ideas.

Major league managers and owners apparently have agreed to deny dissatisfied ballplayers of one of their principal weapons—silence. That this is true is indicated by the attitude of managers and owners, who decline to comment on holdout reports or admit that key men are holding out and by the sources from which information comes that certain ballplayers are holding out.

From Denver comes word that Dudley Lee, $50,000 shortstop purchased by the Red Sox, has returned his unsigned contract to Bob Quinn. From Chicago it is reported that Marty McManus is not satisfied with his contract offered by the Browns. From the East, from unofficial sources comes the information that Jim Bottomley, Cardinal first baseman, is demanding more than he has been offered.

The fact that several Browns have not signed indicates that McManus is not the only holdout. And manager Rickey's heated oration at the mention of the contract situation, indicates that all is not as lovely as it might be.

Rickey on Holdouts.

"It is time that a halt was called to this practice of young ballplayers demanding such large increases in salary," said Rickey last night. "We won't have any trouble, because all our regulars, all our old players, are satisfied with the fair offers we have made. The only men who may hold out are young men whom we can do without very easily. I have heard from several young men that they have splendid business opportunities. Many of these business opportunities are going to be taken advantage of. If a man has a business chance that can take his attention away from a baseball job that pays $400 or $500 a month, then that man should not consider baseball."

"Imagine a pitcher who is taken from the benches or a college and given every opportunity to make good and who perhaps pitched a double-header and won it. The next time he worked, say he was knocked out all over the place when the time comes for him to talk contract he has forgotten everything except that double-header and his good days and asks for $1500 a year, an increase of $100 or $200 a month! Imagine that! We are willing to give a man a fair increase. We consider a 3 per cent increase a very fair one. There are many men in other kinds of work who get a 10 per cent increase their second year in service."

"You can be talking of only one man," a reporter for the Post-Dispatch said. "Do you mean that Johnny Stuart is holding out for $5000? He is the only recruit who did anything to warrant any request."

"You can say it was Johnny Stuart if you want. But what if I deny the story tomorrow and display a signed contract from Stuart to prove that you guessed wrong?"

One Guess Was Enough.

But Rickey was too angry to hide the fact that it was Johnny Stuart who was holding out for $5000. President Sam Breadon was asked if there was any truth in the report that Jim Bottomley was a holdout.

"No, there is no trouble in sight about Bottomley," said Breadon. "Has he been signed?"

"No, not yet. You know all our contracts have not yet been sent out. We have until Feb. 15. The least said about contract negotiations the better. Controversies over contracts only cause hard feeling. There will be no trouble over Bottomley."

At the Browns' office similar reports were given on the McManus situation. Bill Friel dismissed the report about McManus with the statement that Marty was a chronic holdout and that he would be in the line when spring training began. But all over the circuit reports of dissatisfaction over contracts come from the players. Wayland Jones, Giant recruit, gave out the news at his home. The managers and owners are trying to say nothing, but it's hard for Branch Rickey to say that.

BOBBY JONES RECEIVES DEGREE FROM HARVARD

By Associated Press.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 7.—With the degree of bachelor of arts to add to his golfing honors, Robert T. Jones left Harvard today for his home in Atlanta, Ga.

Although Bobby has become the national open golf champion since he entered college as a junior in the fall of 1922, he has never won his club for his alma mater, because as a transfer student he was ineligible for the college golf team, and because permission was not granted him to compete in last summer's intercollegiate championship.

His next drive will be into the field of business in Atlanta.

Piker Swimmers Meet Nebraska

Collegiate Relay Record May Be Shattered Tonight at Wilson Pool.

A relay team which recently came within one-fifth of a second of the western intercollegiate record, a fancy diver who holds the local championship and a water basketball game will be some of the special attractions in connection with the Missouri Valley Conference swimming meet between the Washington University and the Nebraska University teams at Wilson Pool, on the Washington campus, this evening.

Little is known of the strength of the Cornhusker squad, which has so far engaged in only one meet this season. That meet was with the Omaha A. C. and the Huskers lost by a score of 47 to 21.

Records May Fall.

The Pikers have a well balanced team this year which is regarded as a serious contender for the conference title. Last week Coach Johnson's paddlers invaded Iowa State College and trimmed Ames by a 44-to-22 score. The Pikers took first place in all events but one.

Washington swimmers are expected to set a new record tonight for the 200-yard relay race. In practice this week the team has lowered the mark consistently and expects to do it again this evening.

The Piker schedule calls for a meet with Illinois and a conference meet with the Kansas Aggies, in addition to the first annual Valley meet, which will take place on the Parkway next month.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—All eyes are being focused more and more upon the coming Olympic games of 1924, and preparations are getting under way for the proper representation of the United States in these classic contests. Already the list of those from whom are to be chosen the men who will train our athletes has been announced.

There is no country in the world where the art of training has been brought to such perfection as in the United States. When one reads the list of coaches nominated for the Olympic team by the A. A. U., including such men as Mookley of Cornell, Fitzpatrick of Princeton, Robertson of Pennsylvania, Keene of Syracuse, Farrell of Michigan, Stagg of Chicago, Christie of California, Gill of Illinois, Farrell of Harvard, Hayward of Oregon, Cromwell of Southern California, Husted of Alabama Tech and Roehm of Boys' High School of New Orleans, one gets some idea of what we can furnish in the way of trainers.

To these add Oliphant of the Army and Magee of Bowdoin, and we find that we have men familiar with training in all kinds of climate and of men who from various sections of the country, where conditions vary as they do from Maine to California and from Illinois to New Orleans.

Robertson of Pennsylvania, will act as head coach. Besides these, we have coaches for the various other forms of athletics, like Webb of Annapolis and Blake of Los Angeles for boxing; Phinney of Indiana for wrestling; Roy Moore of New York Turnverein for gymnastics; for swimming, Bachrach of the Illinois Athletic Club; water polo, Otto Wahle, N. Y. A. C.; for women's swimming, Handley of New York, and for diving, Ernest Brandsten, Leland Stanford University.

Wealth of Trainers.

Such an aggregation of men could be collected in no other country. As a matter of fact, the United States has really furnished good trainers for the world. At the time when the writer was handling the naval training camps, he was able to collect not less than 50 first-class, high-grade trainers who devoted themselves to the service of the country in making and keeping men fit. Later, when the war was over, some of our best men were seized upon by other countries.

But, meantime, we must not forget that our margin of safety in superiority in these contests may be lessened by the far greater and more experienced development of all the foreign contestants in these games. The time was when we almost monopolized the idea of specialization in preparing men, now all countries realize this and are acting accordingly.

After the rather heated meeting of the Olympic committee in New York, at which nine-tenths of the time was devoted to the study of the Paddock case, it was not surprising to learn from an announce-

Greb-Berlenbach Title Go Planned

Men May Fight in Outdoor Arena Next Summer for Middleweight Crown.

By Fair Play.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Plans are being laid for a great outdoor fight for the middleweight title between Paul Berlenbach, the new metropolitan sensation, and Harry Greb. The only thing that may spoil the scheme is Paul's tendency to put on weight. He fought Frank Carbone at 162½ and looked to be in the pink of condition.

Judges of physical condition who have studied Berlenbach say that by next July he will be far better fitted to do himself justice at 170 pounds than at 160. If this be true, Harry Greb may be out a fistful of money.

All the big guns are waiting for New York's outdoor season and with so many bouts in prospect it may turn out that the fans will get fed up.

Dempsey will probably fight three times, or at least two: Gene Tunney will do battle, as will Greb, Leonard, Mickey Walker, Joe Lynch, champion upon champion until the fans may be satisfied.

MRS. MALLORY WILL PLAY FOR NORWAY IN OLYMPIC NET TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Mrs. Molly Bjurstedt Mallory, who will be unable to represent this country at tennis in the Olympic games because of a ruling by the international Olympic Committee, has decided, according to the World, to play as a representative of Norway, her native country.

Under the committee's ruling, an athlete who has once represented one country in the Olympics can never play in the colors of another. Mrs. Mallory, an American citizen through her marriage, represented Norway in the Olympic games in 1912. She recently received an invitation to represent her native country in this year's games. Mrs. Mallory, since coming to the United States, has won the women's national tennis champion seven times.

ANOTHER POLL TO BE TAKEN ON JUDGESHIP

None of Candidates in Bar Association Referendum Receives Majority of Vote Cast.

None of the 21 candidates in the Bar Association referendum to recommend three Republican lawyers, one of whom Gov. Hyde has promised to appoint as successor to Circuit Judge Charles B. Davis, resigned to go on the Federal bench, having received a majority of the vote cast, new ballots will be mailed to members of the association today and another vote taken.

Rules of the referendum do not provide for eliminations but candidates voted upon during the first ballot may voluntarily withdraw by notifying Bar Association officers in writing. W. L. Sturdevant, president, said today.

With Gov. Hyde en route to Florida for three weeks' vacation, there is sufficient time to conduct the referendum as originally planned. The balloting will be continued until three candidates obtain a majority of votes cast.

A total of 582 votes had been cast when the voting closed at 4 p. m. yesterday. Tabulations made at the office of George C. Hitchcock, chairman of the committee in charge, gave George F. Hald, City Counselor, high vote, with 234; Claude O. Peary second with 197 and Walter Diehm, third, with 150. The vote for the other candidates follows: Charles W. Rutledge, 120; Edward Rudolph, 112; William R. Orthwein, 103; Frank H. Flue, 91; Robert J. Kratky, 88; Frank M. Hienert, 75; James E. Garstang, 70; Alroy S. Phillips, 65; N. P. Zimmer, 62; Arthur J. Freund, 54; Blodgett Prier, 52; Robert L. Allworth, 45; Fred J. Hoffmeister, 44; Harry R. Stocker, 40; Campbell Allison, 35; A. Samuel Bender, 30; William L. Bohenschamp, 21, and Maximilian F. Ruler, 15.

REED-FOR-PRESIDENT CLUB OPENS CAMPAIGN OFFICE

Igou to Be in Charge—Senator Not Likely to Return to State in the Near Future.

A campaign to carry St. Louis for Senator Reed for the Democratic nomination for the presidency will be waged from an office in the Central National Bank Building, sixth floor, opened today by the Reed-for-President Club, of which Bennett C. Clark is president. Former Congressman William L. Igou will be in charge.

Igou said today that organization tactics will be followed, largely, with possibly precinct meetings. Unless present plans are revised, there will be no city-wide meeting during the pre-convention fight.

Senator Reed probably will not return to Missouri in the near future, Ed A. Glenn, his campaign manager, said today. Glenn indicated that his efforts until the Missouri decision has been made, will be confined to this State and Georgia. If Reed carries Missouri, the campaign then doubtless will be broadened to include other states.

New Immigration Bill in Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Another selective immigration bill was introduced yesterday in the Senate. Prepared by Senator Watson Republican, Indiana, after consultation with officials of the Department of Labor, it was offered in his absence by Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire. The measure would provide for a quota of 2 per cent of each nationality as listed by the 1920 census and Senator Moses said that Senator Watson wanted it emphasized that "these percentages were his own" and not from the department. Entrance would be limited to holders of certificates obtained from consular officers abroad. A part or all immigration could be suspended upon proclamation by the President.

THE SPITE WOMAN

By SOPHIE IRENE LOEB
Copyright, 1924, Press Publishing Co.

A LITTLE child desired a plaything
Refused to eat—for spite;
And the mother, worried with the dread
Of the hunger that might come,
Coaxed and pleaded and finally gave the plaything.
But the war was not ended in the heart of the wee one.

SOPHIE IRENE LOEB

Years passed, and the young woman
That which was forbidden she did—for spite.
And seemed to gain comfort in the thought
That she had won.
A lover came in the heyday of her youth
And loved with a love that was deep, Because he saw only the surface side of her that attracted
And another came whose love was as the froth.
And one day she married him to spite the other
And thus lost the big chance for happiness.
And this unholy union was filled with constant strife
And the man ran away
To let her live her fiftful life alone.
Old and gray she grew—and shunned.
Unlovely and unloved.
And when the Angel of the End entered
There was none to bid her God-speed or close her eyelids
And the memory of her was black as night.
And the moral is this:
Had the mother made her to feel the pangs of hunger
When she refused food because of the plaything
The tantrum would have spent itself
And the lesson would have been learned.
Had the humoring and coddling of her early days
Been tempered with correction of her disdainful deeds
She would have schooled herself to bear the ill
That came without rancor and revenge.
But spare the sacrifice and spoil the soul
And there is bred the Serpent of Spite Whose head is Selfishness.

What Treatment to Follow If Your Skin Is Very Dry

By LUCREZIA BORI
The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

HOW does your skin react to wind and the outdoors? Does it retain the soft velvety texture that marks a beautiful complexion?

I might also ask how your skin reacts to the warm dry heat that encounters in steam-heated houses, whether the heat be in your own home or in the office building where you spend a great deal of your time.

You will do well to ask yourself
these questions and to answer them honestly. Take a close look at your face in a good hand-mirror. Take your mirror to a window and let the light fall over your shoulder,
so there's no danger of a dimlylighted interior hiding the little blemishes that others notice when you're out in the broad daylight, and that you may give yourself
little time or opportunity to see.

Doubtless, we could all appear more beautiful if we could all live in a soft half-light that lets our features be visible but hides many of the minor blemishes which come to mar our beauty. We know that we all appear lovelier by soft candlight, and the woman who is wise manages to have a little candlight to aid her beauty sometimes. If it's only for the time spent at the dinner table in the evening.
Glass candlesticks are not expensive, and plain candles, either white or tinted ones, are very cheap.

However, this is digressing a bit from the subject at hand, for the subject I want to talk to you about today is dry skin. But you should remember the candle hint when you want to appear at your best.
Not one of the seers after beauty wants to dwell in a soft half-light much of the time for we all know too well the value of sparkling

fresh air and brilliant sunshine.
But examine your face carefully and see if exposure to these very beauty-giving elements seems to hinder the beauty of your skin
rather than help it.

Do you find faint little lines about the corners of your eyes? Do they gather there, radiating out from the corners of your eyes in the fan-shaped formation commonly known as crow's feet?

If you have these, you may notice, too, that your skin has a dry, flaky appearance. If you find one or both of these symptoms, you may be pretty sure that your skin suffers from excessive dryness, and that a timely application of grease is the beauty precaution that can do wonders to help you.

Arm yourself with a good cold cream and a good skin-food. I've given you dozens of formulas for both, and there are any number of pure creams, already mixed, that any trusted druggist can recommend to you.

I advise you to give up using soap on your face for awhile. Instead of washing it with warm water and soap at night, cleanse it carefully with a good cleansing cream. It is well to take your bath at night, if possible, so you can use the skin food as follows:

Rub it well over your face after you have removed the cleansing cream. Leave it on while you take your bath. This will give it a good chance to soak into the pores which are opened by the moisture and heat of the warm tub.

Before you go to bed, rub most of the skin food off, leaving a very light coating. In the morning wash your face with cold water. If you keep this up regularly, you should see a marked improvement in your complexion.

THE LETTERS YOU WRITE

By RUTH LEIGH
Copyright, 1924, Press Publishing Co.

WHEN I receive letters from the many readers of my column, one of my chief interests is to study the letter itself, its appearance and contents, for some indication of the characteristics of the writer.

You would be surprised, girls, to know how clearly you reveal yourselves in your letters.

First, take their appearance.
When I receive a letter written on an unevenly cut or torn piece of paper, blotted or blurred, I assume that the writer is careless and un-tidy in her habits.

Some correspondents take two or three pages to introduce themselves in a slow, rambling way, and about the last page come to the real point of the letter. I wonder if they do this when they send a letter of application to a prospective employer.
No wonder they do not get the good positions they feel themselves entitled to.

If you are not there personally to give an impression, the only way
one has of judging you is by the appearance and contents of your letter. Paper is cheap, erasers cost little and ink certainly is no serious

item of expense. Why, then, is it not possible for you to write letters which are first of all neat in appearance? This applies not only to your personal correspondence, but to business letters as well. The letters I receive from various firms certainly do not speak well for the vast army of stenographers and typists whom I aim to assist.
Erasures, blue, uneven margins, corrections, dirty typewriter type,
poor punctuation—any number of small offenses that indicate carelessness on the part of the stenographer whose job is supposed to involve attention to such details.

If you're writing a letter of application, this is particularly important. Your prospective employer judges your appearance (if you are absent) by the appearance of your letter, and the chances are small factors which have no real bearing on your ability to fill the job, make a big difference in your opportunity.

Make brevity one of your rules of letter writing. Say what you have to say in as few words as possible, to make your meaning clear.
It has been well said that "letters off proclaim the man."

Lace Dinner Gowns for the Thrifty Girl

These Modish and Becoming Expressions of Feminine Fancy
in Evening Clothes Are Within Reach of the Resourceful at Surprisingly Moderate Cost.

By ANNE VAN BUREN BROWN.

THE lace dinner gown is this season's latest expression of the new and fashionable, not only because it is diaphanous, becoming and feminine, but because it lends itself with such charm to the fullness demanded in the evening clothes of this year.

The sort of lace most used is imitation Chantilly, and a variety of attractive designs and shades may be obtained, although Margot and Alecons may be substituted if one has inclinations that way.

The advanced fashion tendencies we wish to emphasize are the importance of black as an evening color, the returning vogue of lace and the two most noteworthy developments in silhouette: the full, uneven skirt and the higher neckline, which has its most youthful expression in the absolutely round neckline, the same depth in the back as in the front.

The first sketch submitted here is for the younger woman. It is best of blood lace, with a fairly tight bodice, normal waistline, full, uneven skirt, which must be rather long, and has the new round neckline. The chief interest of this demure gown lies in its corsage bouquet of pastel-shaded French flowers. This perfectly flat, round corsage is finished with a tiny frill of Valenciennes in the same shade
as the dress and has long streamers of satin ribbon which harmonize

Tips to Home Dressmakers

ROCKS in eyelet work are prominent in the displays of summer togethery and are so simple to make. If you cannot do the embroidery yourself, buy the eyelet embroidery by the yard. You will find a variety of colors to select from. Eyelet/embroidered linens come in dress patterns and the development of a frock is a simple matter. An attractive yellow linen frock has the eyelets outlined in white. There is the skirt separated from the sleeveless bodice by a narrow belt at the normal waist line. The square neck is outlined with a band of eyelet embroidery.

You will want a blue dress, because blue will probably be the outstanding color for the coming season. There are various shades of this color that are modish, but just now powder blue stands out prominently. "Poudre" blue may be had in all fabrics, as it promises to be very popular for all occasions from dress-up events to country wear and sports clothes.

If you can paint, use this art to adorn your new frock. It is quite a fad and you can go as far as you like in covering the dress with the design. An extremely neat and effective trimming is carried out on a crepe de chine blouse which has a mesh girde with a deep point in front. It is covered with an all-over painted design, and the full pleated sleeves are caught in deep cuffs of novel cut, likewise painted.

MARABEL doesn't believe in duty.
She says it's an awful bore, and besides it is so old-fashioned—oh, hopelessly out of date.

She hates even the name of the word—sublimely ever use it anyhow but old people. Women in spectacles and men with white hair—they seem to fairly love the word.

Marabel crossed it out of the dictionary.
She says all her friends feel the same way about it.

The word she likes is freedom—and the word
she thinks is self-expression.

With those two words, and what they stand

in a perfect ecstasy of enjoyment.

Marabel is a student at a big State University.
She has a fine time at the university, three parties

And sometimes and first brothers and secret meetings

Open, drain and rinse a can of asparagus tips, then cut them in small pieces. Cover them with boiling water and bring them to the boiling point, then drain them.
Add a lump of butter, pepper, salt,
a beaten egg, a half teaspoonful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of dry crumbs and a quarter of a cupful of sweet cream. Fill buttered ramekins lightly with the mixture and sprinkle them with a little grated cheese. Bake the asparagus about 12 minutes.

The Relations of a Paid Companion

By JANE PHELPS

Author of "My Husband and I," "A Wife's Story," etc.

THE entire household set about getting ready for the coming of the new companion. "We have a new girl," said the mother, "and she will be with us for a long time. We must get everything in order."

"Crying her eyes out," said the mother, "she is a very good girl, but she is a little nervous. I expect she will be a great help to us."

From that day on, the new companion was a part of the household. She was a woman, and she was a woman who was a woman.

Except one. There was a tall, thin man who came regularly. He had little narrow eyes, a sharp nose and a cruel mouth. What his business was, she did not know. He came to the house every day, and he was a man who was a man.

used to see a doctor. At such times I was nurse as well as servant. Even in her illnesses she never softened toward me, and was always telling me I didn't earn my keep. I knew now that it was because of these frequent seizures she had sent for me. She was frightfully afraid to die, afraid to be alone.

Soon after I came to her she told me: "I expect I'll die in one of these spells, but you take good care of me and when I do die the house will be yours."

As I was the only relative she had, I gave her no credit for generosity, and often thought I had earned the mean little place twice over.

About a week before she passed away Mr. Bond came to see her. Aunt Agatha had been ill for some days, an unusually severe spell for her, and I was busy about the house. For once she did not send me away upon his arrival. I overheard her call him "Jim" and tell him she had taken care of everything.

It occasioned no surprise. Not even did it cause any curiosity in me that she was thus familiar with this man. She was secretive by nature. I knew little more of her than I did when I had stepped off the train and she had met me—so long ago. Grudgingly she had fed and clothed me—buying me only what I absolutely needed, as the clothes I brought with me wore out. Often in the old days I heard mother say: "There is good in everyone if we look for it," and remembering, I tried to find the good in Aunt Agatha. Vainly.

When she died I was alone with her. I became frightened and sent for a doctor, but he came too late. She had scarcely breathed her last, however, when the man, Jim Bond, appeared, and at once took charge of everything. There was no one but me to question his right, and I was far too afraid of him and too distraught by the suddenness of her death to interfere.

It seemed Aunt Agatha had made a will. Jim Bond knew of it, and had notified the lawyer of her death.

A few curious neighbors, Jim Bond and I followed her to her last resting place. I felt no grief, but my loneliness pressed me down. After we returned to the house the lawyer read the will.

Continued tomorrow.

STRIVE FOR HIGH IDEALS

By WM. A. MCKEEVER

If you are inclined to be mean, little and selfish, right thinking will correct these errors. I will tell you how.

You have seen the "milky way" in the heavens at night. Well, that is composed of thousands of suns bigger than our sun, each with planets like the earth attending it. Now, we are really a part of that "milky way." Our planets and suns are in that circle and we must revolve with the whole.

Keep your thought on this big idea for a while. And then think of this. There are about a billion and a half of people on this little old earth and you are only one of them. You must swing around the earth once per day with these suns around the sun once per year with them.

Like the other millions, you must eat, sleep, exercise and rest in order to live on the earth, for

"The earth is the Lord's,
And the fullness thereof.
The sea is His also
And they that dwell therein."

You are fixed in the great moving planetary system, and are a part of it, but you also belong to the great struggling human family. The Creator seems to have turned the earth over to man as a sort of workshop and plaything. But this commission includes you and me. We are supposed to be busy with the job of mastering the laws of nature and of subduing the difficulties of living.

We are today no closer to the answer as to what life is or as to what man's destiny is to be, than we were in the beginning.

Turn your mind occasionally to these big, stimulating ideas about mankind and the universe. Think of the delightful sense of belonging to the great struggling human family, and of being actually needed to help perform the world's work.

Wake up, boys and girls and men and women. Throw off your stupor. Forget your littleness. Resolve to give your mind and heart to the generous ideals of human progress. Tackle some difficult, unlovely project and after it with new determination, for such is one of the best ways to acquire the thrill of moving along with those who think and act on a big scale.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

An Awful-Looking Pop-Eye

A timid heart may be possessed
By one with fierce appearance blest.

—Old Mother Nature.

DANNY MEADOW MOUSE didn't know it, but he was on the edge of a very wide beach. He knew nothing about beaches. Had he known anything about them and the people who lived there perhaps the strange creature he had discovered just behind him wouldn't have seemed so awful. As it was, this awful looking stranger seemed to Danny to be a giant spider with great claws which he held up, and with eyes which seemed to be on the tops of little stalks. Of course, Danny saw this stranger in the moonlight and the stranger was only half out of a hole in the sand.

For a moment Danny was too frightened to move. He was too frightened to think. He just held his breath and stared. The stranger stared back, and there was something rather awful in the stare of those raised eyes. Danny hadn't dreamed that there could be such a looking creature in all the Great World.

The stranger came a little more out of that hole. Danny squeaked with fright and found his legs. Yes, sir, he found his legs. And he made the best possible use of them. Straight across the sand for the great man-bird Danny ran just as fast as he could make those short legs of his carry him. He didn't once look behind him. Up into the great man-bird he scrambled. Not until he was safely in it did he breathe easily again. He was sure that awful giant spider, for that is what he thought it was, had chased him clear there. As a matter of fact it hadn't chased him at all.

He went into the little cupboard and told Nanny Meadow Mouse all about it. "Do you know what I think?" said Nanny.

"No. What do you think?" asked Danny.

"I think," replied Nanny, "that you have been asleep and had a bad dream. Yes, sir, that is just what I think. I don't believe there is any giant spider such as you have told me about it. If there is, I don't want to see it. Anyway, if you have any sense at all you will stay right here in this great man-bird and not take foolish risks."

For a while Danny remained in

Danny squeaked with fright and found his legs.

Nearer it came and nearer. Danny could see it clearly! It was the giant spider! But how funny he traveled! He seemed to be running on the tips of his many feet, and he was running sideways. Yes, sir, he was running sideways. In a few minutes he was right under Danny. Then Danny made a discovery. This giant spider seemed to be covered with a hard shell. Even his legs seemed to be covered with shell.

Of course, you have guessed who it was. It wasn't a spider at all. It was Pop-eye the Crab. He was awful looking to Danny because Danny didn't know him. Danny moved and made a little noise. Away scuttled Pop-eye sideways, and disappeared in a hole. Danny drew a long breath. Pop-eye was timid.

Famous Women

LADY HAMILTON

EMMALYON was the daughter of a poor servant woman from Wales. At the age of 13 she was placed in service, and then went to London, becoming chambermaid to a lady of rank, which place she lost through too much reading, and became maid-servant in a tavern. Here she met a British naval captain, and became his mistress. He deserted her and left her in the lowest pitch of degradation. Her next place was with a quack doctor who exhibited her as the goddess Hygieia, and as such she became acquainted with Charles Greville, by whom she had three children. Greville was prevented from marrying her through his removal from office and sent her to Naples, where his uncle, Sir William Hamilton, was Ambassador. She became the latter's mistress, and later his wife. Emma made the acquaintance of Lord Nelson, who fell madly in love with her, and when Hamilton was recalled, Nelson resigned his command and returned to London alone. Later Lady Hamilton had a daughter whom she called Horatia Nelson. When Sir William Hamilton died Lady Hamilton retired to a country place and bought for her by Lord Nelson and she lived there until his death in 1805. She died in Calais, France, in 1815.

TWO Northerners traveling in the mountains of Kentucky had gone for hours, without seeing a sign of life. At last they came to a cabin in a clearing. The hogs lay in their mudholes, a thin claybank mule grazed round and round in a circle to save the trouble of walking, and one lank man whose clothes were the color of the mule, leaned against a tree and let time roll on.

"How do you do?" said one of the Northerners.

"Howdy."

"Pleasant country."

The native shifted his quid and grunted.

"Lived here all your life?"

The native spat pensively.

"Not yet," he said, languidly.

LENROOT, GRILLING BONFILS, ASKS HIM IF "OIL MONEY" SILENCED ATTACKS

Chairman, in a Scathing Cross-Examination of the Denver Publisher, Seeks to Show Sinclair Paid $250,000 for Influence of His Paper.

WITNESS DECLARES DEAL WAS HONEST

Senator Points Out That Editorials Assailing the Teapot Dome Lease Followed Immediately After Stock Contract Was Made.

BY CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, chairman of the Senate Oil Investigating Committee, which is following the sordid trail left by the Naval Reserve leasing transactions, this afternoon, put Frederick G. Bonfils, publisher of the Denver Post, through as merciless a cross-examination as ever has been heard in a congressional committee room.

Bonfils had gone over again the details of the deal by which he and his partner, H. H. Tamm, shared in the settlement under which Harry F. Sinclair took over the claims of Leo Stack in the Teapot Dome reserve.

Sinclair paid, according to Bonfils' testimony yesterday, $250,000 in cash, in addition to 220 acres of the reserve, which he was to take back in 15 months at $750,000 or $1,000,000.

The witness was about to leave the stand unscathed when Lenroot told him to remain.

Extortion Hinted by Lenroot. Shooting questions with the rapidity of a machine gun, Lenroot developed a series of replies from the witness which led the examiner to thunder:

"You got five times as much as you said would have been proper under your contract."

He referred to the stock contract with the Pioneer Oil Co.—the contract which formed the basis of the claim against Sinclair, after the latter had obtained the Teapot Dome concession from Secretary Fall.

The purpose of the examination, as quickly became evident to the crowd in the committee room, was to bring out, if possible, that what Sinclair really brought when he settled with Stack and Bonfils was the influence of the Denver Post, which had been banding the Teapot Dome lease as a corrupt piece of business.

"What was the consideration?" demanded Lenroot. "Why were you paid $250,000 and 220 acres of land?"

Bonfils replied the payment was made because Sinclair owed it. Lenroot, casting aside reserve, went at the witness with pitiless, searching questions. He asked whether the money was not paid to buy the silence of the Denver Post.

Bonfils, who never lost his nerve under the grilling, declared that his paper's attacks on the Teapot Dome lease had not ceased, and never would cease.

"Do you mean," said Lenroot, "that there was no change in the attitude of your paper from the beginning?"

"I do," replied Bonfils. "We fought the lease more than any other paper in the United States. There was not one change in the editorial policy of the Denver Post."

Lenroot asked him whether there did not appear in the Denver Post for Nov. 4, 1922, a one-column box announcing an article on Sinclair in The Great Divide, a weekly paper, put out by Bonfils and Tamm.

(This article was not introduced in evidence today. It is said to have been an article highly eulogistic of the oil magnate.)

Bonfils replied that this article was a "pen picture" of Sinclair, and an editorial.
